Literacy class- This week, because I will be out of class during literacy to help the CSAPs, I will be creating a 2 week long project for them to write a creative story and make a book that they can present to me after the CSAPs are complete. They will continue with the Harry story when I am in class a couple times this week.

Math class- We are in the middle of a unit on math facts and time. This week we will learn about calendars and estimating time. We will be learning different vocabulary related to calendars as well.

Science class- We will be focusing on our animal books this week and taking care of the chickens. Our books discuss the differences between reptiles and amphibians, mammals and birds.
