Homework: Math- chapter 25 packet

Spelling- I picked random words from their vocabulary box. They are to write them in sentences, draw a picture of that word, and put the words in alphabetic order, as well as a word search.

Literacy class- This week, we will continue on their creative stories regarding Pternandons. We are also continuing to read the story, focusing on making images in their head to visualize the story better.

Math class- We will be taking our quiz on Wednesday (it was postponed from last week) and continue to work on fractions.

Science class- We have started a new unit on solids and liquids and we will be exploring the properties of both. We will also experiment with different kinds of liquids.
